PRESBYOPIA 2025

We are pleased to present the prospectus for the Annual Conference of the International Society of Presbyopia (ISOP), a premier event advancing innovation in vision care. The conference brings together leading experts to share insights, showcase new treatments, and shape the future of presbyopia management.

This year's congress will feature the latest research, highlight effective treatments, and offer a glimpse into future advancements. To keep it accessible, registration fees are kept low but do not cover all expenses. Presenters volunteer their time, as no speakers are paid.

Consistent with past years, the conference will take place one day prior to the commencement of ESCRS. We anticipate a turnout of approximately 150 attendees for this one-day event.
